

Contents

List of Participants pag. 10

Looking through the eyes of ancestors:
concepts of the archaeoastronomical record
Stanislaw Iwaniszewski pag. 11

SARDINIA AND WESTERN MEDITERRANEAN

Solarists vs. Lunatics: modelling patterns in megalithic astronomy
César González, Lourdes Costa and Juan A. Belmonte pag. 23

When astronomical meaning goes beyond orientation and becomes architectural design
Mauro Peppino Zedda pag. 31

From Domus de Janas to Hawanat: on the orientations of rock carved tombs in the Western Mediterranean
Juan A. Belmonte and Mauro P. Zedda pag. 39

The orientation of the Punic tombs of Ibiza and Sardinia
Lourdes Costa, César González, Mauro P. Zedda and Juan A. Belmonte pag. 47

The stone circles of Li Muri: geometry, alignments and numbers
Marcello Ranieri pag. 58

Orientations of Corsica neolithic tomb
G. Thury-Bouvet, Jean-F. Santucci, El Hadi Khoumeri, Antoine Ottavi pag. 68

The agricultural calendar of the Celtic Boi
Silvia Cernuti and Luigi Mariani pag. 76

ASTRONOMY, ARCHAEOLOGY AND LANDSCAPE

Landscape, archaeology and ethno-astronomy: a union foretold
Felipe Criado and Marco García Quintela pag. 87

Visual signatures in the Irish Neolithic landscape. A wider perspective of the Irish passage tombs
Frank Prendergast pag. 100

Astronomical alignments in the recently discovered archaeological sites of southern Campeche, Mexico: A preliminary report
Ivan Šprajc pag. 107

Sunshine in Bell Beakers' houses in Hungary
Emilia Pasztor pag. 116

A multidisciplinary study applied to a Celtiberian site: preliminary results
G. Rodríguez, M. Luisa Cerdeño, Marta Folguera, M. Carmen Hernández pag. 124

Application of standard astronomical software to the analysis of horizons around archaeological sites
Montserrat Delgado and César Esteban pag. 131

Dark-cloud constellations and the sacred landscape of Cusco in Inca times
Giulio Magli pag. 137

PATHOLOGICAL ARCHAEOASTRONOMY

The astronomical ceiling of Senenmut, a dream of mystery and imagination
Juan Antonio Belmonte and Mosalam Shaltout pag. 145

Le soleil nous porte ombrage
Arnold Lebeuf pag. 155

Book of the Dead or Book of Shadows? When esoteric approaches spoil Astro-Egyptology
Amanda-Alice Maravelia pag. 165

ASTRONOMY OF ANCIENT LITERATE CULTURES

The use of shadows and reflections to regulate the calendar in Minoan Crete
Mary Blomberg and Goran Henriksson pag. 177

Lights and shadows on the pyramids
Juan A. Belmonte and Mauro P. Zedda pag. 188

The cult of Artemis Orthia in Greece: a case of astronomical observations?
Efrosyni Boutsikas pag. 197

Measuring the heavens in Mesopotamia
John Steele pag. 206

Seshat: stretching the cord in ancient Egypt
Noemi Miranda, Miguel Angel Molinero and Juan A. Belmonte pag. 212

Highlighting new archaeoastronomical results from Greece
Ioannis Liritzis and H. Vassiliou pag. 220

COSMIC IMAGES: ROCK ART AND HUMAN THOUGHT

Cave and cosmos, a geotropic model of the world in ancient cultures
Michael Rappenglück pag. 241

Comets and meteors in rock art: a contribute to an inventory Fernando Augusto Coimbra	pag. 250
Rock art, binary logic and archaeoastronomy Giorgio Dimitriadis	pag. 257
Lunar and solar connections at a rock art site in central Portugal Fernando Pimenta, Luis Tirapicos and Nuno Ribeiro	pag. 264
The archaeological symbols M and W and the symbolic link with Cassiopeia constellation Enrico Calzolari and Davide Gori	pag. 272
Lights and shadows in the culture of Central Asia people Leonid Marsadolov	pag. 279
Orientations of 140 Swedish passage graves, a megalithic calendar Goran Henriksson	pag. 289
The Italian Society of Archaeoastronomy (SIA) and a proposal for the discussion of the concept of time Elio Antonello	pag. 298

ETHNOASTRONOMY AND HISTORY OF ASTRONOMY

Lighting up dark moon: ethnographic templates for testing paired alignments on the sun and the moon Lionel Sims	pag. 309
The astronomical bureau during the Sung dynasty Francesco Polcaro	pag. 319
A preliminary approach to popular astronomical nomenclature in some Latin languages Paola Capponi	pag. 328
The name of the constellations in the Sardinian language Mauro Maxia	pag. 338
On possible astronomical significance of Lithuanian autumn goat ceremony Jonas Vaiskunas	pag. 344
Elements of Romanian folk mythical astronomy. The sky and stars of the Romanian peasants Florin Stanescu	pag. 355
Cosmic Music Barbara Rappenglück	pag. 361
Astronomy and Heritage Magda Stavinschi	pag. 370